ACI Home Performance Conference 2008

Pittsburgh, PA

April 7 - 11, 2008

Attend North America's premier educational event for high performance homes, and explore practices and opportunities for energy efficiency in residential buildings. For more than twenty years, ACI has been a forum for knowledge on how to create sustainable, healthy, safe, comfortable, and durable homes. Explore diagnostic methods, structural solutions, and installation practices that can reduce the carbon footprint of new and existing homes. Learn from respected presenters, and gain access to the most dedicated professionals of the building science industry. Attend five days of sessions and networking opportunities, plus a two-day trade show featuring the latest techniques, materials, and tools.
